Psalm 119 portrays how the Jews viewed the Word of God. Its contents are mainly praises of God's Word, exhortations to its perusal, reverence for the Word, prayers for its proper influence and complaints of the wicked for despising it. There are only two verses (122, 132) which do not contain some term or description of God's Word. It is divided into 22 stanzas; each stanza contains 8 verses.
